An Announcement to the College Community
Theodore C. Mercer

Shortly after the opening of the new academic year next fall, I shall reach the normal retirement age of 65. The matter of administrative succession has been under preliminary consideration for some time. Consequently, achieving a changeover in administration that would not affect adversely the essential character and continuity of the college is a major goal of the Board of Trustees. The time has now arrived to set in motion the process by which an orderly transition will be made in due time to a new administration.

To achieve that end, the Board of Trustees in its meeting Saturday, April 27, established a Presidential Search Committee with the following membership:

- Trustee W. Earle Stevens, Jr., chairman
- Two teachers to be chosen by faculty vote.

(We now know that to be Dr. Robert Speede and Dr. John Bartlett.)

Larry Puckett '73, Cleveland, Tennessee (an attorney and current president of the Alumni Association)

The president of the student body (Dinh Tran)

Dr. Karl Keefer and me

Albert J. Page, chairman of the Board, Ex-officio

The Board action also provides that up to two more members may be added to this committee as deemed advisable. It is likely that two women representatives will be added, one each from faculty and supporting staff.

The stated reponsibility of this committee is to identify and screen presidential prospects and to make recommendation to the Trustee-Administration Committee of the Board, of which Dr. Ian Hay is chairman. This committee will recommend to the full Board a candidate for election. The Board has stipulated for its own direction that only a candidate recommended by unanimous vote of the Trustee-Administration Committee will be presented to the Board. The trustees have indicated that their primary concern in this matter is to know and do the will of God. Consequently, the Board calls for fervent and continuing prayer in this matter.

In terms of practical implementation, this Search Committee is to be organized prior to the Board meeting in October, when a preliminary report will be made to the trustees. Trustee Earle Stevens, the chairman, is moving back to Chattanooga, so the initial meeting of this committee will likely take place when he is back in the area. At this point it is reasonable to assume that this whole process can be completed during the next college year.

On the personal side, the trustees have indicated that the plan for the changeover in administration includes naming me Chancellor, an honorary title used in higher education for retiring college presidents of long service. The academic year of 1985-86 will round out thirty years of Bryan service for Alice and me. Generally a chancellor retains some degree of active connection with the institution. I would not, however, be involved in any direct responsibility in the new administration.

In any case, Alice and I expect to continue to maintain some degree of active connection with the institution. I would not, however, be involved in any direct responsibility in the new administration. In any case, Alice and I expect to continue to be a part of the Bryan Family, wherever we are and whatever we do. I probably will conclude my presidency by June 30, 1985, or whenever my successor is available to actually assume the work of the presidency.

There is no reason that this transition cannot be turned to creative advantage both for the college and for the individuals personally involved as we all look to God for His direction.

Class of 1935 Receives Golden Diplomas

Of the six graduates of the class of 1935, three are living; and of the three that are living, one attended the 1985 commencement. W.A. Colvin, President of Bryan's student body in 1935, marched in full regalia, just ahead of the class of '85, and received his Golden Anniversary diploma from President Mercer.

Receiving their diplomas in absentia were Naomi Jewell Stroud, of Largo, Florida, and Virginia Kohout Holmwood of Erie, Pennsylvania.

Attending the ceremony with Mr. Colvin, were his wife, Alma; three sons, Stephen, Frank and Tim; and one daughter, Mrs. Mary Ruth Holmes. Two of Colvin's daughters, Alice Harley '60 of Winterhaven, Florida, and Mary Ruth Homes '70, are also Bryan Alumni.

In presenting W.L. Colvin with his Golden Anniversary Diploma, Dr. Mercer recounted how Mr. Colvin walked seven miles one way to school for sixteen years, the last four years to Bryan College. The total distance was over 55,000 miles.

To be Named Chancellor

Following the spring meeting of the Board of Trustees, Theodore C. Mercer, who has now concluded twenty-nine years as president of William Jennings Bryan College, announced his retirement.

The effects of President Mercer's leadership can readily be seen by scanning the last three decades of our Alma Mater's history. Bryan's physical plant has grown from the partially finished Administration Building to the presently completed structure which houses classrooms, library, administrative offices, the Lion's Den student center, new kitchen and renovated dining room. Other campus buildings constructed during this time include four residence halls providing housing for all students, the Rudd Memorial Chapel/Fine Arts Building, Summers Gymnasium, the Administration Annex Building and Bryan Village, apartments for married students.

All Bryan alumni can appreciate even more than the growth of the physical plant the attainment of accreditation in 1989, and with it the substantial growth of Bryan's student body during the seventies. The enrollment factor becomes even more prominent when we consider that 84% of our graduates attended Bryan during President Mercer's tenure of office. In raw figures this means that, including the class of '85, Dr. Mercer has conferred degrees on 2,270 of Bryan's 2,700 graduates.

All alumni, including those from the Judson Rudd years, can be thankful for this man who continues to zestfully give his life to the Lord's work at Bryan College as he enters his thirty-seventh year as president.
Alumna on Cutting Edge of Pro-Life Issues

After just six months of internship with the Christian Action Council in Washington, D.C., Jane Park '84 has been added to the staff of that pro-life organization. It will now be her responsibility to help the growing number of Crisis Pregnancy Centers by responding to their inquiries and requests for information.

The Christian Action Council is a pro-life organization based in the nation's capital with local chapters throughout the United States. The CAC's stated purpose is to provide "a pro-life solution to the abortion problem." One way this is accomplished is by planting and developing Crisis Pregnancy Centers, where women who are contemplating abortion are helped and encouraged to let their child live. During the last half of 1984 the number of Crisis Pregnancy Centers has more than doubled.

About the CPC ministry Jane writes, "These centers are ministries that I've seen God's hands build and bless. It is a vital ministry because women are being reached in their crises." Jane's pro-life convictions began during her sophomore year in high school at the premier showing of Francis Schaeffer's film, "Whatever Happened to the Human Race." She sees this as a turning point in her life when she became determined to do something about abortion in the United States. One project she completed in high school was to survey her senior class to determine the effect on young people of education on the abortion issue. She found that, after hearing a guest speaker on the issue, 50 percent of the senior class in her school changed their minds from relative indifference to a positively pro-life position.

Miss Park, who has her B.A. in Christian Education, sees her work as a calling, a ministry that "qualifies her for a significant position in the Crisis Pregnancy Center movement."

Seminarian Trains High School Wrestlers

In a voice which carries over the shouting cheerleaders and raucous crowd, Steve Wisthoff yells, "Wrist control!" The object of his attention is one of two red-faced boys grappling on a mat. A few minutes later, the boy walks to the bench in defeat. Wisthoff, whose 6'5" wrestler's frame stands out in the crowd, yells, "Wrist control!" The object of his attention is one of two red-faced boys grappling on a mat. A few minutes later, the boy walks to the bench in defeat.

For Wisthoff, wrestling is a sport in which he competed for 11 years beginning in fifth grade, now his assistant coaching job is helping to pay for his seminary education.

What do high school wrestlers think of a coach who is a seminary student? "They ask me whether I like seminary and what I plan to do when I graduate. It gives me the opportunity to talk with them about ministry and Christianity."

Wisthoff makes himself available to his students as a friend and confidant. "I show them I care about them and establish relationships which sometimes open the doors for sharing."

For Wisthoff, the unlikely marriage of wrestling and ministry has a sound theological foundation. "The Apostle Paul speaks of running the race and fighting the good fight. Success in athletics is based upon one's attitude. "Just as we need Christ for our own character development, we need him for everything else too. Our bodies are temples of the Holy Spirit," Wisthoff notes.

Between wrestling meets and seminary studies, Wisthoff is also a husband and father. His wife, Grace (Schoettle) '82, and infant daughter helped to cheer the team to victory. Steve's brother, Jonathan, is a sophomore at Bryan and his father, David, now with the Lord, graduated in 1953.

Triumvirate" Leads Tennessee Jaycees

If you were to ask anyone attending the Tennessee State Jaycee convention in Gatlinburg if they knew a Wayne Cropp, or a Marty Collins, or a Larry Puckett, they would probably know who you were talking about. These three young men have each held the Presidency in the Jaycees in these past six years. Wayne is President of the Chattanooga Jaycees, and from 1980 to 1983 Wayne was President of the Bryan College Alumni Association. For the past six years Wayne has been Director of the Chattanooga-Hamilton County Air Pollution Control Bureau.

Wayne was President of the Chattanooga Jaycees, and from 1980 to 1983 Wayne was President of the Bryan College Alumni Association. For the past six years Wayne has been Director of the Chattanooga-Hamilton County Air Pollution Control Bureau. In this position he is in charge of all administrative responsibilities, which include such tasks as lobbying for pollution control, procedures, speeches and correspondence; testifying before Congress, and handling public relations through guest lectures at universities and appearances at community organizations and on television.

Wayne is married to the former Diane Myrick of Orlando, Florida. They have two children, Rachel, age four, and Joshua, age one. The Cropps attend First Presbyterian Church in Chattanooga.

Referring to this one year term as President, Wayne says, "The year has been extremely rewarding, but I must say I am looking forward to having more time available to devote to other areas including the alumni program at Bryan.

Marty Collins '73 says about his former schoolmate, Wayne, that he noticed the difference at the state meetings when Wayne was President because there was a place on the agenda for development.

Marty, who is a deacon at Clear Creek Baptist Church, Rhea County, administrator funds for the area office on Age Out of the Chattanooga Area Regional Council of Governments. Collins concluded his one year tenure as President of the Dayton Jaycees by receiving three awards at the Gatlinburg, Tennessee, convention of Jaycees. He was named to the President's All-Star Club and won the President's Award of Excellence. These two awards were from the state level. On the district level, the Dayton chapter won an award for recruiting 25 new members and gaining a charter for the Spring City Jaycees, both accomplishments of Collins' presidency.

Although the Jaycees are a secular organization, a service club that exercises its purposes as a training organization for young adults, Collins observes that the organization includes, in its statement of purpose, "We believe that faith in God gives meaning and purpose to life."

A name now familiar to all Bryan alumni is that of Larry Puckett '73. He has been Vice President of the Alumni Association for two years and became President in October 1984. As the third member of our "Triumvirate" Larry has just completed a year as President of the Bradley County Jaycees in Cleveland, Tennessee, where he is a practicing attorney. He is also a member of the Christian Legal Society, a national organization of Christian lawyers. Larry and his wife, Patty (Puckett) '73, have two small children, Andrew, age two, and Anna, age one.

The Alumni Association is pleased to have as members the dedicated young men who exemplify living as "full-time Christians" in their service to their communities as well as to the churches and families. They are just three of the thousand Bryan College graduates whose lives are witnessing for Jesus Christ, not only in their professions, but in their daily wa...
Alumni Attend Special Dinners

Alumni Recruiting Alumni

Dr. Mercer recently received from alumnus Cliff Brunson '59, "We do pray that the Lord will guide in bringing in more students to Bryan this fall. If there are any prospects near us, we would be glad to call or visit them to encourage them. Personal contact seems so vital in many areas."

Alumni are the best contacts between Bryan students. You are urged to send names and addresses of high school students that you feel would benefit from a Christian liberal arts education at Bryan.

Sponsor an Applicant

Under a new program announced by the admissions office of Bryan College, alumni and other friends of the college are invited to sponsor an applicant to the college by purchasing a $10 certificate toward the payment of one half of the $20 application fee for a prospect to whom they have special interest.

Blank certificates will be provided by the admissions or alumni offices. The sponsor completes the certificate form by filling in his own name and address and the name, address, phone number, and expected enrollment date of the prospective student and by sending it to the admissions office with a check for $10 payable to Bryan College. The admissions office will then send an application form to the prospective student. If the application is returned within 90 days with $10 toward the application fee, the certificate will be accepted as the remaining portion of the application fee. If the prospect does not apply, the sponsor will be given a gift receipt for the $10 and the money will go into the general operating fund of the college.

The sponsor will be kept informed of the status of the prospect and will thus be able to continue to give encouragement. If you wish to participate in this new program, please request as many certificates as you can use from the alumni office.

Howard C. Kee ’40, a William Goodwin Aurelio professor of Biblical studies and chairman of the Graduate Division of Religious Studies at Boston University, received a summer grant in 1984 from the National Endowment for the Humanities and was also recognized as the Scholar-Teacher of the Year at Boston University. His book, Miracle in the Early Christian World, published by Yale University Press, was selected by the History Book Club for special recognition. This summer he expects to travel in Europe to include a lecture at an international conference in Norway.

Lucille (Cassell) Henson x’40 has retired in Louisville, Kentucky, from nursing. She remains active in genealogical studies and belongs to several societies. In her free time she likes to travel and write. She has three sons and one daughter—Charles, Joseph, Douglas, and Donna.

Rebecca (Peck) Hoyt x’40 has retired from full-time teaching in September. After thirty-six years the H hurted two of her Indian children, Seth and Linara Sam.

Bruce ’47 and Wilma (Walker) x’49 Rosenau have full schedules of preaching and teaching. Bruce is preaching with deacons and church leaders, which makes classes on six weekends a week plus preaching on Sunday and office work in the mornings. Wilma works with the children of the church. They recently visited a new church which met under a grass roof with 77 people present. Among them were six children of pastors whose Bruce had taught in Bible school and who are still in the ministry.

Lyman ’49 and Helen (Parden) ’49 Goehring shared with other missionaries in Fortaleza, Brazil, as they celebrated in February the 50th anniversary of the Graduation of Mission Mid-Mission in Brazil. They rejoiced in the accomplishments of the past 50 years and even more in recent decisions of four young woman teaching preparing for baptism. One young man of 17 began Bible school with the hope of being able to translate some English Christian book into Portuguese. The Goehrings are currently on furlough in the United States.

John Deal x’58 with his wife, Revonda, live in Alton, Jordan, where John is administrative head of the Baptist Hospital, sponsored by the Southern Baptist Convention. He is also regional chairman of the Overseas Missionary Fellowship in North Thailand with the white Hmong tribe of about 35,000 people of whom 1,000 are professing Christians. He has the New Testament and a portion of the Old Testament in the Hmong language. There are only three lady missionaries working with these people.

Angie Garber ’47 was honored with a plaque on August 15 by the National Women’s Missionary Committee of the Grace Brethren Church at their annual meeting in recognition of her 33 years of ministry at the Grace Brethren Navajo Mission in Counselor, New Mexico. Angie was the first teacher of the mission school, which has also been active as a dorm supervisor, cook, driver for sick Navajos, teacher in VBS and summer camps, reading teacher to adult Navajos, and counselor on visitation. At age 95, in Leon, Iowa, she is a graduate of Grace Theological Seminary as well as Bryan. Although she is now officially retired, she continues to be actively involved in the work of the church. Angie is pictured here with her husband, George.

Ann L. Bair Mulvey ’54 and Marjorie live in Holtsville, New York, where they work for Mulvey-Holstain Industries as a welder and Marjorie as a bookkeeper. They have an insurance/real estate office in Zeilinopolis. Their three daughters—Mary, Martha, and Kathy—are married and have provided them with seven grandchildren. Roscoe Mulvey is a member of an adult class at United Baptist Church in Harlamburg, also serves as a deacon, and is active in witnessing in his shop.

A Classic Notes

40’s

Leona Bair ’42 left Thailand on February 1st for a four-month furlough to be with her sister and others. Last year she worked in the overseas mission in Thailand with the white Hmong tribe of about 35,000 people of whom 1,000 are professing Christians. She has the New Testament and a portion of the Old Testament in the Hmong language. There are only three lady missionaries working with these people.

Gary and Alice (Tolbomann) ’59 Fredrickson live near Willard, Missouri. They have seven children, with their sons, Scott, 16, and Mark, 13, planning on a furlough from Kenya, Africa, from June through August.

Lloyd Matthes ’59 is in his ninth year as a teaching math and coaching men’s cross country and track teams at Liberty Baptist College. “Dr. Jake,” the first full-time math instructor to teach at the college, wrote up the mathematics program as well as inaugurated the two athletic teams during his first year at Liberty. Last year Matthes was named NCAA II Regional Coach of the year.

The team has earned numerous trophies each year. In 1984 the team was named NCAA II Regional Coach of the year. The team has earned numerous trophies each year. Lloyd’s wife, Sandy (Schmickl) ’72 shares his interest in the field of education. The couple has two children, Christopher and Emily, and have welcomed the arrival of their first grandchild, Anna, in August.
